PLAN MORE DRASTIC VOLSTEAD LAW

Leaders Seek Fiat Jail Sentence For First Offense

SEEK TO SEARCH HOME

Would Make Purchaser of Liquor Equally Guilty With Seller—Fight Starts in April

They are planning new legislation to provide a flat jail sentence for the first offense of selling liquor, without giving the courts the optional right of imposing a fine.

Other changes being discussed among the prohibition leaders relate to the search and seizure clause, so as to reach the home brew and to make more sweeping the present law under which a person buying liquor may be punished equally with the person selling it.

Confiscation of every drop of liquor held by citizens, regardless as to when or how it was acquired, is also being urged. This would legalize seizure of all stocks held in a private cellar—or a safety deposit vault. Objection to that, however, has been made by some dry leaders on the ground that little such liquor finds its way into channels of bootleg trade and that it won't be long before all such liquor will be used up.

Unless a pending bill, which would permit Federal commissioners to try minor liquor cases, is passed a proposed amendment to the Volstead law would take care of this. Federal court dockets are now badly congested with Vilstead violations and Government officials have reported a change of procedure necessary.

The big fight for amendment will start with the opening of the new session in April, according to dry leaders. They say they have enough votes in the House now to put through any added restrictions they might desire, but that there is not enough time left.

Meanwhile Chairman Volstead, of the House Judiciary Committee, on whose shoulders will fall the bulk of revising and tightening up, is awaiting word from prohibition enforcement officers as to suggestions for making the law bullet-proof. He wants the advice of the men charged with responsibility of breaking up the outlaw traffic.

Chairman Volstead has expressed satisfaction with the law, believing it was born with teeth, but in talks with members he has expressed the belief that others might be added.

Reports showing heavy transportation of liquor and wholesale smuggling, prompted the movement to put persons transporting and selling it in jail right off the bat.

In the effort to stop home brewing and operation of kitchen or garret distilleries, turning out small quantities of liquor for sale, prohibition leaders admit that they will run into a storm of opposition. When the Volstead bill was before Congress in 1919 the big fight was on the search and seizure provision. This, as finally drafted, stipulated that no search warrant should be issued to search any private dwelling occupied as such unless it were being used for unlawful sale of liquor containing more than one-half per cent. of alcohol. Elimination of this provision, it was said, would leave any place open to search.

Pleads Guilty

Robert Nelson, Had Three Quarts of Whiskey and Will Stay in Jail Three Months

Robert Nelson, colored, indicted by a grand jury in the corporation court yesterday for violating the provisions of the state prohibition law, today entered a plea of guilty in the corporation court and was sentenced by Judge Moncure to serve thirty days in jail and pay a fine of $50. In default of the payment of the fine Nelson will spend two additional months in jail, making a total of three months.

Nelson when asked by the court if he desired to plead guilty entered a plea of not guilty, asserting that the whiskey was not his. Policeman Magner told the court that he arrested Nelson near the union station and Nelson had a suit case which contained three quarts of whiskey. Judge Moncure reasoned with the prisoner and had sent for Attorney Charles Henry Smith to defend Nelson when the prisoner changed his mind and entered a plea of guilty. Nelson said he would leave it to the court to do what it thought best. Nelson at the time of his arrest he said was enroute to Camp Humphreys.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 1.Discovery of the body of Dodge Hunt,, wealthy mountain farmer, in the woods of Floyd county, Kentucky, as the result of an anonymous letter, has developed an absorbing murder mystery, according to reports from the mountain last night. Branham summoned several other men and followed directions. The body was found close to a log and covered with pieces of wood and leaves. Investigation showed he had been killed by a shot gun, the load entering at the back of the neck. The postmaster at Prestonsburg identified WE Blackburn as a man to whom he had sold stationery similar to that on which the anonymous letter was written.

Investigation showed Hunt and his nephew, Jack Sherman, had gone hunting December 13 and that Hunt never returned, Two thousand dollars Hunt had carried was missing.

Debs Pleased by Berger News; Mum on Own Case

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 1.—Eugene V. Debs, in the Federal prison here, expressed great pleasure yesterday on receiving the news of the action of the United States Supreme Court in reversing the lower court in the case of Victor L. Berger and four other Socialist leaders, but declined to make any comment on President Wilson's refusal to commute his own sentence.

The news was conveyed to Mr. Debs by Samuel Castleton, his local attorney.

"The reversal will have a wholesome effect throughout the country," Debs declared in a brief statement on the Berger decision given out through his attorney. "I didn't see how anything else could happen when the Supreme Court reviewed all the facts in the case. Mr. Berger and his friends should never have been found guilty in the first place."

Mr. Castleton stated that Debs would issue a statement today commenting on the President's refusal to commute his own sentence.

New York Bankers See Failure Ahead

New York, Feb. 1.—Men of high standing in American finance gave utterance today to varying opinions relative to the agreement of the supreme Council in respect to German reparations, but in most cases they asserted that the terms offered were impractical and would defeat their purpose.

With regard to the action of the Supreme Council which would make it impossible for Germany to seek to place credits in the United States without first obtaining consent of the proper Allied authorities, the common banking view was that this would be only a formality and nothing would be done to stop German external financing where it would aid Germany directly or indirectly in paying its reparations dues.

The proposal to levy an export tax on German goods shipped into the world markets was generally condemned as adding unnecessarily to Germany's burdens.

MARION TREASURER ADMITS SHORTAGE

Marion, Ohio, Feb. 1.—H. C. Forry, Marion county treasurer, yesterday confessed, police say, that he embezzled approximately $15,000 while serving as treasurer and deputy treasurer and that he staged a fake hold-up last Wednesday to cover a theft of more than $14,000, which he expected to use in making good a shortage.

Coincident with Forry's confession Sheriff Frank A. Washburn said that information he had received led him to believe others were implicated in the embezzlement. He said an important arrest was expected momentarily.

Investigation, he said, showed that Forry had been using the county treasurer's office as a gambling den.

Forry's confession followed announcement by State examiners that the treasurer's books were short approximately $15,000. Forry is said to have confessed that the shortage covered a long period.

Forry was found lying on the floor of the vault last Wednesday morning. His face was scratched and red marks were visible on his forehead. He told a story of thugs knocking him down and getting away with more than $14,000.

The next day after the birth of a baby, police say Forry confessed to tapping himself with a hammer until he had made his forehead red, scratching his face and faking the hold-up The money was recovered.

Forry is out on bond on a charge of embezzlement in connection with the hold-up. Additional charges will be placed against him, it was said.

Reception To Moose

Virginia lodge No. 1076, Loyal Order of Moose, was given a reception last night, at their new home, corner Duke and Royal streets, by the women of the Mooseheart Legion. There were about 300 present.

The hall was beautifully decorated in the colors of the order, red, white and purple, and the tables also were decorated with the colors, enhanced by ferns loaned by the Ponnet-Powell Floral Company.

The guests assembled in the reception hall, where refreshments were served by the ladies in charge, after which dancing was in order in the dance hall, with music by the Citizens Band.

One of the most enjoyable numbers on the program was "The Girl I Left Behind Me," played on two historic violins by Mr. Ben Butler and Mr. Goldie Wells. Among the dance numbers were the lancers and the old Virginia Reel.

The affair was declared to be the most successful event the Loyal Order of Moose has ever had, and no small part of the success is due the Citizens Band.

The committee in charge extends thanks to all who assisted, particularly the members of the band for their kindness in furnishing the music, which was greatly appreciated and the Loyal Order of Moose and Women of Mooseheart Legion stand ready to assist the band in any way and at all times, as they feel these young men deserve credit, and wish them much success.

New York, Feb. 1.—Detective Sergt John S. Armstrong, a member of the Police Department's auto squad, was declared in contempt of court, sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $250 by Judge Crain, in General Sessions this afternoon, for refusal to answer questions before the grand jury in connection with former Governor Whitman's investigation of alleged corruption in city government.

An indictment against Detective-Sergt. William I. Hussey, of the automobile squad, charging him with accepting $50 reward from an insurance man for recovery of a stolen car, was returned this afternoon by the additional grand jury. He was arraigned before Judge Crain and, after pleading not guilty, was released under $2,500 bail.

Rewards totaling nearly $250,000 paid by insurance companies within the last eight months in connection with the recovery of stolen automobiles are under investigation at present by Mr. Whitman.

An indictment also was returned against William J. Hemmerick, another member of the auto squad. He was charged with taking unlawful fees.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Henry Ford's net gain over Senator Newberry in the recount of the 1918 Senatorial election in Michigan last night had passed the 3,000 mark. The Detroit manufacturer, however, would have to gain nearly 4,500 votes in the 157 precincts yet to be counted by the Senate Privileges and Elections subcommittee to overhaul the Senator.

The Senate committee when it ended its day's work had counted votes in 2,075 of the 2,232 precincts in the State up to and including the Sixteenth ward in Detroit, and the net gain for Ford was given as 3,091.

TWO YEARS SENTENCE GIVEN THREE MEN

Plea of Guilty Entered by Accusea For Malicious Burning

PROMISED CLEMENCY

Judge Moncure Tells Men He Will Recommend That Their Senatnce be Reduced to Six Months

Pleas of guilty today were entered in the corporation court by Lambert Berryman, John Nye and Geo. L. Cark, who were indicted yesterday afternoon by a grand jury in that court for malicious burning and Judge Moncure sentenced each of the men to two years in the penitentiary. The judge told the men that he would recommend at once to the governor of Virginia that their sentence be reduced to six months, and that instead of going to the penitentiary they be sent to the road force.

Three indictments were returned against Berryman, two against Nye and one against Clark. The court nolle prossed two against Berryman and one against Nye, leaving but one indictment each against the men when they were sentenced.

The jury in its report yesterday afternoon recommended mercy for the men and added that they thought there was no maliciousness in connection with the fires alleged to have been started by the men and that the men did not realize the seriousness of the offense.

The places which were set on fire included the old Hallowell school building for colored girls, on the east side of Alfred between Princess and Oronoco streets; the unoccupied frame house 310 Wolfe street and a pile of logs in the court bounded by Prince, Duke, Patrick and Henry streets.

It was explained by the court to the men that the penalty for such an offense is from two to ten years in the penitentiary and the minimum sentence is two years.

Judge Moncure also told the young men that he would immediately write to Governor Davis and in his letter would embody the report of the grand jury recommending executive clemency and urging upon the governor to make the sentence only six months.

The general opinion among practically all persons is that the young men simply set off the fires as a lark to see the fine motor apparatus in action and see the engines run and see which company would arrive on the scene first. There is no one who actually believes that the men did it for anything else. All of the young men have splendid reputations and none have ever before been in any trouble.

Protest Filed

Mr. Ball already has filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a petition of protest.

THE WINCHESTER WAY.

Citizens of Winchester not satisfied with prices for articles of food in that town and particularly dissatisfied with the failure of retailers to reduce prices started a campaign of publicity and protest a few weeks ago which culminated a day or two since in radical reductions in necessities of life. Not only have food prices dropped but gasoline has been further reduced and is now selling in that town for thirty cents a gallon. Public sentiment is hard to combat once it makes itself known and the Winchester people went about their work in the right way as results prove. A little more unity of action on the part of consumers everywhere will assure them a square deal.—Fredericksburg Daily Star.

Socials On Friday

Y. M. C. A., Changes From Saturday During Month of February

The Y. M. C. A., community socials are to be changed from Saturday evening to Friday evening for the month of February. This was decided at the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Association at the Westminster Building last night.

At a special meeting of the Auxiliary several evenings ago the matter of changing the dates of the socials was discussed and last night's meeting definitely made the change. The ladies had taken a careful census of the social situation and felt that it would be advisable to change the date for a month in order to meet the many requests that were constantly coming to them from the young people for whom the socials were held.

The plan of the parties is to be changed very little, the only evident change being the necessity for increasing the play facilities, especially for the children. The afternoon pictures were offered to the children with a partial thought that they would suffice for their entertainment. But it has been decided to again provide a play specialist for them and their program will be distinct from that offered for the young people.

The Auxiliary received the report of the social committee with a great deal of gratification and was surprised to learn of the many hundreds that were taking advantage of the social program offered each week by the Y. M. C. A.

A railroad spike from one of the bombs penetrated the front door of a church a block away.

LOOK FOR DEFIANCE FROM GERMANY

Berlin Reports Says Allies Will be Told to do Their Worst

PRESS REACTION

U. S. Officials and Bankers Call Reparation Terms Impossible—Delays Means Less From Germany

London, Feb. 1.—Berlin dispatches describe Germany as filled with consternation and already determined to let the Allies do their worst rather than accept the terms the Allies agreed upon at Paris. This attitude can be appreciated here after reading the press reactions 48 hours after closing of the conference.

Press comments furnish an exceedingly interesting range of reactions. Even those newspapers which have consistently demanded that Germany be compelled to pay "the uttermost farthing" feel constrained to defend the agreement against the charge of being grotesque, while to the liberal and labor organs it is "criminal" or "the product of a madhouse."

Nobody expects the agreement to stand unaltered. It is regarded merely as the Entente's basis for compromise at further conferences. It is described as a political measure drawn to strengthen Briand's position in the French Chamber of Deputies and accepted by Lloyd George because he fears that he himself will be compelled to hold general elections shortly.

J. M. Keynes, writing at considerable length in the Manchester Guradian, calls the annuities impossible figures, and says no American economist ever raised the figures above $1,000,000,000 a year. He writes: "Those who defend the agreement admit that the period over which payments are to extend are much too long, but they contend 'We can let the future take care of itself.'"

The Morning Post believes the presence of Sir Auckland Geddes in Paris was responsible largely for the financial features of the agreement. It is pointed out that Britain's share under the agreement is practically the same as its debt to the United States while France could pay its debt in England from its share of the indemnity.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Authorities in Washington on the subject of war reparations hold that the settlement agreed upon by the Allied powers is bound to fail because it is impossible and they hold further that the longer the Allies delay a reasonable, just and sane settlement, the less they will get from Germany and the more Europe will suffer.

While holding that the agreement is an impossible one, these authorities assert that a constructive settlement cannot be made so long as politics are injected into an economic subject. The two main faults of the proposed settlement were declared to be the 12 per cent. tax on German exports and the provisions for penalizing Germany's inability to pay.

The two "reasonable" ways of settlement are said to be:

POSTMASTER-GENERAL BURLESON'S VINDICATION.

According to the veterans of many battles, the supreme test of a soldier's nerve is to stand up under fire without replying. The same psychology would apply to public men subject to criticism—oftener abuse—generated for political effect. The Wilson Cabinet for the past eight years has been remarkable in that its members, led by their chief, have maintained a dignified silence under virulent attack. Perhaps the one member who has suffered the most abusive onslaughts, has been Postmaster-General Burleson. He has had the enmity and harshest criticism of the magazine and newspaper press, the American Federation of Labor, the powerful express monopoly, and several of the dominating business interests of the country. Under all this he has remained silent. In yesterday's Baltimore "Sun," he gives out his first interview at length, going into detail as to his policies and acts, during his eight years of administration. The result is a complete vindication of his executive course. The interview is, besides, a constructive lesson in politics.

Burleson comes from old Texas fighting stock. His grandfathers fought side by side with Sam Houston for the independence of Texas. They served as presidents of the new nation, marched under the stars and bars in the sixties, and at all times have proved their warlike qualities and bull-dog tenacity. General Burleson's inheritance of these characteristics, useful if not necessary to any public man, has stood him in the best of stead in the administration of his great office. The overpowering influences of the vast aggregations of capital that have as their paid employees the best brains money can hire, is felt nowhere more keenly than at Washington. They ramify all over the country and their insidious attacks are nation-wide and consecutive. But General Burleson has met them time and again and come off victorious. The most encouraging feature of it all, is that he still remains sweet-tempered and optimistic. We wish that his interview might be read by every voter in the land. He has been consistently and persistently on the side of the people and his record is a shining mark of conspicuous ability and success in the administration of the greatest business organization in the world.

JUDGE LINDSEY LOSES CASE

His Appeal on Contempt Charge Denied by Supreme Court

Washington, Feb. 1.—The appeal of Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the Denver (Col.) Juvenile Court, from conviction on charge of contempt of court, was dismissed yesterday by the Supreme Court.

Judge Lindsey's conviction, which resulted in a fine of $500, grew out of his refusal to divulge to the district attorney confidences made to him by Neal Wright, one of his charges, who was accused of complicity in the murder of a farmer. Judge Lindsey maintained that communications to him in his official capacity were privileged and that it would be a violation of law and ethics for him to testify as to such information.

"DEEDS" HIS WIFE TO ANOTHER MAN

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 1.—What purports to be a note "deeding" a wife by her husband to another man won Mrs. Emma Winkler Lail a divorce from James T. Lail.

The alleged note, which was filed in court with Mrs. Lail's deposition, follows:

"December 1, 1920

"Mr. Fred Wade:

"I give you the privilege to go with or take my wife, Mrs. J. I. Lail, as your best friend or wife at any time from this date you desire. She is now in your care. I have nothing to say."

The note bears Lail's name and Mrs. Lail says it is in her husband's handwriting. She asserts she was husband what he meant by selling her "sold for $100." When she asked her he replied "He needed a hundred dollars."

FOR RAILROAD RELIEF

Washington, Feb. 1. — Senator Townsend's bill, under which railroads could collect parts of sums due them from the Government on account of guaranteed returns during Federal control before a final audit was completed was ordered favorably reported yesterday by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Chairman Clark, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, approved the bill saying most of the roads needed the money and that the losses to the government would be small as a result of partial payments against which the Comptroller of the Treasury has ruled.

SENATE MEETS INAUGURAL DAY

President Wilson was asked today to call the United States Senate in special session on March 4 in order that it may induct the Harding Administration's appointees into office.

It is assumed that the President will comply with the request, as it is a customary procedure for the Senate to meet in special session on inaugural day in order to confirm Cabinet appointments and such others as the incoming President cares to announce at that time.

Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, the minority leader, called at the White House today at the request of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, the majority leader, to lay the request before President Wilson.

So far as is known at this time the session on March 4 will be brief and perfunctory. Vice President Marshall will swear in his successor, Calvin Coolidge; the Harding Cabinet appointments will be confirmed, and it is then likely that the session will adjourn.

It is the intention of President-elect Harding to call a special session of the Sixty-seventh Congress within four or five weeks after his inauguration.

Taxi Driver Finds $35,000 In Jewelry In His Car

Chicago, Feb. 1.—"What'll I do with this?" asked Charles Murphy, chauffeur for the Martin Lavery Company, as he dumped a hatful of diamonds, pearls, rubies, sapphires, necklaces, brooches and rings upon the desk of the manager.

"start a jewelry store would be my guess," replied the manager. "Where did you get it?"

"In my cab. Somebody must have dropped it. It is too large for a tip."

Two expert jewelers were called in and they appraised the lot as worth $35,000 or more. Twelve pearl necklaces were part of the treasure. One of them was valued at $2,800.

Murphy could not guess at what hour of the night of virtually continuous travel the jewels had been brought into the car. Because of the storm, short trips had been frequent and his meter showed he had made 20 or more such journeys between midnight and morning. He was sweeping out his cab today preparatory to going out when he discovered the treasure. A broken box was on the floor.

NOW'S THE TIME TO TAKE CHASCO-VIN AND KEEP WELL ALL WINTER

Stops Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis—Makes Rich Red Blood — Produces Strength and Weight and Builds up Generally a Run-Down System. Read What Chasco-Vin Users Says.

Chasco-Vin, the strength creating tonic, is a most palatable preparation, being a compound of tasteless Cod Liver Extract, Hypophosphites, Iron and Malt, Wild Cherry and Gentian. Its wonderful reconstructive and nutritive powers make it an ideal Body-Building Tonic, for both young and old and is particularly beneficial at this season of the year.

After taking a bottle or two, those who are weak and run-down can almost defy Coughs and Colds and thoroughly enjoy the winter weather. Read what these Chasco-Vin users say:

H. E. Kennedy, 420 Church St., Waynesboro, Pa., a machinist writes: "I was badly run-down and had a mean cough when I started taking Chasco-Vin. But it soon fixed me up and I am in fine shape again. I found it to be the best tonic that I ever used."

Joe Smith, a shoe dealer on Independance St., Shamokin, Pa., wrote: "Chasco-Vin helped me wonderfully when I was suffering from nervousness and a generally run-down and weakened condition. It just put me back on my feet again and I feel stronger and better than for years."

CONGRESSMAN MOORE

Interviewed on Camp Humphreys

In response to an inquiry, Represen tative Moore has stated to the Gazette that the future of the military camps that were established during the war is not expected to be dealt with at this session of Congress. It will be the subject of legislation in the next Congress. A sub-committee of the House Committee on Military Affairs is now taking evidence in respect to the matter. Thus far, no opposition seems to have been made to the maintainance of either the camp at Quantico or Camp Humphreys. Should both of these camps be maintained, the first will be the centre of the acmp activities of the Marine Corps, and the second will be one of the greatest engineer schools in the world.

BOMBS WRECK SHARON STORE, BREAK WINDOWS

Sharon, Pa., Feb. 1.—The Black Hand is believed responsible for the partial demolition, from the explosion of two bombs of the Messina Brothers' wholesale fruit store, a three story brick building, and the shattering of hundreds of windows in nearby buildings and residences, yesterday morning.

Two men placed two big cans of powder in the main entrance of the Messina building, facing Pitt street, and then were whisked away in a closed automobile. A third man acted as driver of the car.

It is said that James Messina, an Italian, had received a letter threatening that the outrage would be pulled off and was awaiting for the plotters when they placed the bombs He and his family occupied the third floor of the building.

When Messina saw the men get out of the car he fired at them with his revolver, but did not hit them.

Police, attracted by the shooting, arrived at the Messina building in time to see the car leave at terrific speed. When they stepped into the entrance of the building they discovered the fuses burning close to the powder. They ran and were not more than one hundred feet away when the explosion occurred. Both were knocked down, but were not injured.

The front of the Messina building was wrecked and scores of buildings within two squares damaged. Railroad spikes in the cans of explosives were hurled through walls and doors of other buildings.

There must be fixed a reasonable amount which Germany shall be required to pay, the Allies to determine the sum with a view of its effect upon their own economic interest and in consonance with that regard to set up adverse conditions for Germany's foreign trade.

To fix a large amount for Germany to pay, then throw open foreign markets, including their own, to German trade, while the Allied countries themselves stop working.

If Germany expands her foreign trade she can only do it, Washington officials say, by taking it from other nations and therefore the sane method for the Allies to follow is to estimate how much they are willing for German trade to expand and German many can pay and remove the dangerous elements of uncertainty, which are injurious to the economic interests of the Allies as well as of Germany.

An Appeal to the American People

THREE and one-half million children in Eastern and Central Europe have no alternative to disaster between now and next harvest except American aid. For months these most helpless sufferers in the track of war have been admitted to American feeding-stations only if tragically undernourished, and have received American medical aid only if desperately threatened by death from disease.

One 5 cent hot American meal today has saved a thousand lives.

Winter is closing down. The money of many nations is valueless outside their own boundaries. Economic and crop conditions make famine, with its terrible train of diseases, a certain visitor until next harvest. Inevitably the helpless children will suffer most. No child can grow to health and sanity on the pitiful makeshifts for food with which millions of European adults must content themselves this winter. It is obvious that the remedy can come only from outside.

America saved 6,000,000 European children winter before last. Normal recuperation cut the need nearly in half last year, but unusual conditions have resulted in scant shrinkage of child destitution during the twelvemonth just past. The response of America must now decide whether 3,500,000 of these charges, in acute distress, shall begin to be turned away in January from more than 11,000 asylums, hospitals, clinics and feeding-stations dependent on American support. There would be no tragedy in history so sweeping or so destructive of those who can deserve no evil.

The undersigned organizations, working among every race and creed, many engaged also in other forms of relief, agree unanimously that the plight of these helpless children should have complete priority in overseas charity until the situation is met. This is an issue without politics and without religious lines. There can be no danger of pauperisation, for the $23,000,000 for child food, and the $10,000,000 for medical service that we seek, will relieve only the critical cases. The medical supplies, of course, must be an unqualified gift, but for every American dollar used in child-feeding, the governments and communities aided furnish two dollars in the form of transportation, rent, labor, clerical help, cash contributions and such food supplies as are locally obtainable.

America has not failed in the past in great heartedness. She has never had a more poignant call than this. Contributions should be turned over to the local committees which are now being formed for this national collection, or sent to Franklin K. Lane, Treasurer, Guaranty Trust Co., New York City.

The "Far East" Influence Felt in the New
Hats of Imported Cellophane Braid

The Far East has been a "Mecca" for 1921 style originators of millinery modes. The Hindoo turban is quite in evidence in these new models, as well as the popular "off-the-face" styles.

All are made of the lustrous imported cellophane, in black, brown and navy.

The trimmings are of cherries, glycerine fancy effects, embroidered flowers worked in raffia straw in bright colors, others trimmed with tulle, and still others trimmed with ribbons and jet ornaments.

Creations suitable for afternoon, street and dinner wear. These styles are very adaptable, becoming both to the miss and the matron.

KIDNAPPERS URGE QUICK SENTENCE; CRIME CONFESSED

Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 1.—Arthur W. Carr and Floyd L. Carr, charged with kidnapping Mrs. Gladys Witherell, were arraigned late yesterday before Justice Himshaw and held for trial in Superior Court. Their bond was fixed at $50,000 each. They expressed a desire to plead guilty and begin serving their sentences. The penalty for kidnapping is from ten years to life in the penitentiary.

After their arraignment the defendants were rushed before Superior Court Judge Reeves. He appointed public Defender Aggeler to defend them. The public defender was granted three days to prepare his case. District Attorney Woolwine indicated when the case is called Wednesday he will have Mrs. Witherell in court to tell her story before her abductors are sentenced.

The defendants are cousins, Floyd Carr was arrested while telephoning a demand for $20,000 ransom to C. C. Witherell, the husband of Mrs. Witherell. Four telephone girls who intercepted the call and warned the police may be given the $2,000 reward offered for the recovery of the missing woman.

Floyd Carr confessed that Mrs. Witherell was being held captive at a cabin in the mountains fifty miles from Los Angeles. Deputies and detectives battered down the door, rescued the woman and captured Arthur Carr, who was on guard. Mrs. Witherell was abducted from her home last Tuesday.

BANK BURNED AFTER THIEVES GET $31,000

Newport News, Va., Feb. 1.—The Commonwealth Bank, at Reedville, Va., was looted and burned early yesterday morning, thieves making off with $16,000 in cash and $15,000 in bonds and other securities. A dragnet is being spread through the middle Eastern States for the robbers.

The building was destroyed, all notes and records of the bank going up in flames. All records of the deputy collector of customs there also were destroyed, as were all records of the Commonwealth's attorney. The officials had offices on the second floor of the building.

The blaze was discovered about 2.30 o'clock yesterday morning. Volunteer firefighters made their way to the vault at the risk of their lives and found that both the vault and the inner safe had been opened and looted. It was impossible to reach the offices on the second floor.

WIFE NEEDS GOOD SPANKING: NOT INSANE, ALIENIST SAYS

Chicago, Feb. 1. — Mrs. Ethel Kluge lost $3,000 at bridge whist and then, in a panic of fear that her husband would discover what she had done, she staged a fake robbery to account for the missing money.

She is the wife of William B. Kluge, president of the Racine Tire and Rubber Company. Last night her husband called officers and had her taken to a psychopathic hospital for examination. He had discovered the discrepancy of $3,000 in her accounts and had heard that she had borrowed sums of money from other women to pay her bridge whist losses. He also learned that there had been no robbery at his home, such as his wife had reported to the police.

"Mrs. Kluge is not insane," said Dr. Fowler, of the psychopathic laboratory, "but she needs a good spanking. It will be good for her to be held here for some time. Of course, she is anxious to go home, but she needs this lesson, and it will make a more lasting impression if she is held here for some time."

Courteous Burglar Writes His Regret at Robbing Woman

Boston, Feb. 1.—Polite regret struggled with cupidity in the mind of a burglar who robbed the apartment of Mrs. L. M. Bickford, Charles River Road.

"I am sorry that I have been obliged to indulge in this unseemly business of removing some of your property," he wrote in a note left on her desk, "but necessity forces me to forego my scruples. However, do not bother trying to find any finger prints about the place. I do not leave such things after me. Regretfully,

Clarence,"

His loot consisted of three expensive coats, a muff and five bottles of champagne.

Judge Landis Promises to Make Life Hot for Baseball Crooks

Chicago, Feb. 1.—aSloons made crooks and crooks made horse-racing and boxing more than the public woulr stand, but neither liquor nor crooks are going to spoil baseball, Federal Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, said yesterday in an address at the First Presbyterian Church in Evanston.

"Now that I'm in baseball, just watch the game I play, said the Judge. "We lost horse racing and boxing because of crooks, but if I catch any crook in baseball the rest of his life is going to be a pretty hot one. I'll go to any means and do anything possible to see that he gets a real penalty for his offense."

hasn't changed a bit

The same fine native tobacco, the same lively, appetizing flavor, the same mellow fragrance that has kept men smoking Piedmonts, and nothing else, for so many years—it's all there. Hasn't changed a bit.
